

A TRAIN HELD UP
BY BOLD BANDITSROCK ISLAND EXPRESS LOOTED AT OKLAHOMA.

Messenger Jones Wounded—Train Hands Forced to Open the Safe in the Express Car—Posse in Pursuit of the Robbers—Little Money Obtained—Robbery at Wichita.

Chicago, April 5.—The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific passenger train No. 1 was held up near Dover, O. T. early yesterday by fire unmasked bandits, and the passengers of the smoker, day coach and chair car were relieved of their valuables. Express Messenger Jones was wounded in the left wrist, but he steadfastly refused to open the safe in his car and the booty secured by the robbers as a consequence was very small. A posse of determined citizens of Kingfisher, under the direction of Deputy United States Marshal Madison, mounted upon horses capable of standing a protracted chase, are now in hot pursuit of the train robbers and but an hour and a half behind them. The railroad authorities at Kingfisher are positive that they know two of the robbers and they expect soon to have all in custody.

According to information received at the local offices of the Rock Island, the train robbery was a well-planned, badly executed and quite profitless affair. At 4:20 o'clock No. 1 pulled into Dover on time. She stopped at the yard limits, as the custom was for passenger trains to replenish the supply of coal and water in the engine. The fireman was in the act of dropping the water tank nozzle to the tender manhole when two determined-looking men sprang upon the engine. Fireman and engineer looked into the muzzles of two pairs of revolvers and heard the dreaded injunction: "Do as we tell you or you will be dead men."

The bandits, neither of whom wore masks or other devices to conceal their features, ordered the engineer to proceed to a point about a quarter of a mile beyond the yard limits and stop. There the men who had planned to loot the train had previously picketed the engine. Three confederates, unknown to the engineer, had quietly slipped upon the platform of the baggage car just as the train pulled out from the water tank. When the train reached the spot where the robbers' horses were concealed behind a thicket of cottonwood trees the engineer was politely told to shut off his throttle and apply the airbrakes very quietly so as not to disturb anyone in the train by a reached the spot where the robbers' knocked at the baggage car door and ordered Messenger Jones to open up.

Messenger Jones, relying upon the locks and chain-guards of the doors, and putting into operation a bit of strategy gained by instruction and observation, maintained silence. He moved over into a corner and compressed his form into the smallest possible area.

"Open the door or we'll riddle the car," cried out the pair of robbers. But to all appearance the car containing the safe was deserted. Calling to the pair of bandits on the engine the armed desperadoes said they wanted help to "do up the express messenger."

Marching the trainmen ahead of them the robbers in the engine joined with their comrades before the baggage-express car door in threatening the messenger. But Jones remained quiet. Then three of the bandits proceeded to discharge their big guns into the car. Ten or twelve times they loosed lead and fire, and the last volleys fairly riddled the ends of the car. At the last volley Messenger Jones cried out, "I'm shot," and fell to the floor bleeding from a wound in the wrist. He lost so much blood by the injury to an artery that he was unable to arise. The robbers became impatient, and screamed, swore and threatened, but the wounded messenger refused to obey their commands. A new tack was then taken. The engineer, fireman and conductor were marched at the muzzles of the revolver to the engine for the coal pick, hammer, and grate-bar poker, and ordered to use these implements in battering down the door to the baggage car. They did not long remain at this work, for the robbers seeing it was hopeless to continue, after another fusillade, rode away.

TRAIN-ROBBER KILLED.

Shot Down by His Pursuers While Resisting Arrest.

Wichita, Kan., April 5.—News was brought in from Hennessey one of the posse pursuing the Rock Island train robbers of a fight between the robbers and deputy sheriffs on the Cimmaron river. The pursuing party, under command of Marshal Madsen, came upon the robbers as they were hunting a crossing and immediately opened fire, killing one robber and wounding another. The robbers were taken unawares and fired at random at their assailants, none of their shots taking effect. The robbers then took to the brush and the deputies were sent to cut off all avenues of escape. The dead man was identified as "Rattlesnake Bill," a dangerous territory outlaw. At first the dead man was supposed to be "Sylvia," an escaped train robber wanted for other hold-ups, but it was later learned that Sylvia is in Texas. A Rock Island train conductor, it is said, talked with him at Fort Worth a few hours before the train was robbed at Dover, nearly 200 miles from there.

FIGHT ON PHARMACY BILL.

Measure the Subject of a Struggle in the Illinois Senate.

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—The Crawford bill, amending the pharmacy law, was a special order for second reading yesterday. Objections to the bill were urged by Senators Berry and Craig, who opposed action which prohibits others than a registered pharmacist from opening and conducting a drug store and dispensing drugs. Senator Berry held that such provision was clearly unconstitutional, as any person had a right to own drugs as long as dispensing them was under supervision of competent pharmacists.

Senator Crawford insisted that a section of the bill covered this objection by permitting the state board to issue at its discretion permits to persons in these localities. In the section defining persons competent to become pharmacists, an amendment was added including physicians who have compounded their prescriptions for four years, to whom shall be issued a certificate on passing the examination prescribed by the board. A drastic amendment was offered by Senator Hamer, which included a provision of his bill to prohibit adulteration of drugs. It provides that no person shall adulterate drugs so that they will not correspond to tests recognized by the board of pharmacy with intent to deceive any purchaser. Any infraction of this law shall be punished by a fine of from $50 to $100 for first offense and $75 to $150 for any subsequent offense.

Senator Coon's bill for taxing legacies passed by a vote of 32 yeas to 12 nays. Senator Lathrop's bill allowing coal companies to combine for the purpose of increasing the wages of miners, was postponed until next Wednesday, as its introducer states petitions would be presented then asking its passage.

Senator Evans called up the house bill, which allows boards of education to establish kindergarten schools, and it was ordered to a second reading.

Chairman Dunlap of the committee on appropriations called up Senator Mahoney's bill, appropriating $25,000 for the erection of a statue of Jacques Marquette, on second reading. Dunlap said that the committee reported the bill favorably, but personally he was opposed to it on account of the depleted condition of the treasury.

Senator Mahoney supported the bill in a vigorous speech, and Obrien and others made speeches in its behalf. The bill was amended to provide that the statue be erected on the state house grounds in Springfield, and it was then advanced to a third reading.

Senator Niehaus' bill making 25 per cent of the wages of any person subject to the law of garnishment was passed by a vote of 36 yeas to 7 nays. Senators Craig and Wall bitterly opposed the measure and said it amounted to class legislation, because there was nobody in the state asking for its passage besides the grocers.

In the house Mr. Needles presented the report of the conference committee of the house and senate on a military appropriation bill. It recommended that the senate concur in house amendments striking out the items appropriating $80,000 for new uniforms and $30,000 for current expenses, and that the sum of $62,000 be substituted therefor. None of this shall be used until after July 1, and then only for uniforms. The report was adopted. It is generally understood the senate will also adopt the report.

A large number of petitions were handed in from various parts of the state protesting against the passage of any kind of pool-selling measures.

Mr. Noll asked unanimous consent to have read a second time the senate bill providing for the assessment of the stock of building and loan associations. The democrats objected. Mr. Noll, however, moved for a suspension of the rules, and the bill was read. Then Mr. Cella (dem.) moved to strike out the enacting clause. Mr. Miller of Cook (rep.) moved to lay this motion on the table. On this motion the democrats demanded a roll call. The motion to table was carried—yeas, 87; nays, 33. The bill was then advanced to third reading.

On motion of Mr. Guffin consideration of the pension resolution of Mr. Kitzmiller, which was a special order for yesterday, was postponed for one week.

All the senate appropriation bills on first reading were advanced to second reading, the number including two bills for the establishment of the northern and eastern state normal schools.

All of the house bills on the calendar on the order of first reading were advanced to second reading.

The house adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning.

Recommending Judge's Impeachment.

St. Paul, Minn., April 5.—The house committee having the matter in charge last evening decided to recommend the impeachment of Frank Ives of Crookston, judge of the Fourteenth Judicial district. Ives is charged with illegal and arbitrary actions on the bench and with several other kinds of judicial conduct. The vote in committee was close, standing 9 to 8 for impeachment. The majority of the committee will report in favor of dismissing the charges against Judge Ives. There will be a hard fight in the house, and the minority report is quite likely to be adopted.

PLACES FOR SENATORS.

Morrill Will Continue at the Head of the Finance Committee.

Washington, April 5.—The report that Senator Morrill would retire from the chairmanship of the senate finance committee on the reorganization, to make way for Sherman, is without authorization from either of the senators. The latter is at the head of the republican membership on foreign relations, which in certain contingencies would be a more important committee than even the committee on finance, and stands next to Mr. Morrill on the finance committee, so that in the event of Mr. Morrill's retirement Mr. Sherman would then be entitled to his choice between the two. Financial questions are his specialty, and it is altogether probable that if the opportunity to choose between the two were given he would select the committee affording work most in accordance with his inclinations.

The names most prominently heard in connection caused by the retirement of Senator McPherson are those of Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania, Senator Wolcott of Colorado, and Senator Platt of Connecticut, the first two being favorable to silver and the last opposed to it. Senator Wolcott's name is also mentioned in connection with one of the vacancies in the committee on foreign relations, and it is considered probable that in view of Senator Cameron's long service in the senate and of his attitude in favor of a protective tariff policy as well as of silver, Mr. Wolcott's friends may agree to a compromise.

MAY CALL OUT TROOPS.

Strikers Who Have Not Been Paid Threaten to Cause Trouble.

New York, April 5.—Sheriff Servis has forwarded to Gov. Werts of New Jersey a statement of the serious condition of affairs at Spa Springs, where 600 employees of the Staten Island Terra Cotta Lumber company are on strike. He will swear in 100 deputies at once and has 108 already guarding the works, but has asked the governor to keep a regiment ready to move if militia should be needed.

The workmen have not been paid for four months, and are now on the verge of starvation, and in many cases are in actual want of enough food to sustain life. Some of them have not had a mouthful of food a day for a week.

The company has promised again and again to pay and has several times named days and hours when the money would be ready. The promises have never been fulfilled, although the strikers went to work relying on the promises of the officials that the money would be on hand. They quit at the hour set when the money did not appear.

Mafia Supposed to Have Applied the Match as the Proprietor of the Shipchandlery Store, in Which the Wreck Occurred Had Incurred Their Displeasure.

New Orleans, La., April 5.—An explosion took place at 2:10 this morning in a saloon opposite the French market, and many persons were killed and others injured, the building taking fire.

It is supposed to be a Mafia case, the proprietor having won the enmity of that dread organization.

The explosion occurred in a grocery and ship chandlery kept by Charles Salathe and was caused by powder kept in the magazine. Salathe and his family—except two children miraculously saved—were killed by the falling walls, the entire three-story structure falling into a heap of ruins.

Next door to the chandlery was a saloon kept by Emile Boulet. Half a dozen fishermen were drinking in the place and they were all buried under the wreckage, that building being also destroyed. Fully fifteen persons are known to have been killed, and the fire department is busy extinguishing the flames.

Archbishop Janssens, who lives a block away, was on the scene promptly offering all the aid in his power.

Charles Salathe, wife, one child, three servants and a clerk perished. The barkeeper, Felix Rigot, and five or six persons in the saloon at the time were also buried. Several persons sleeping over the saloon are also lost, making over fifteen in all.

At 3:30 o'clock the burning debris had been extinguished and the work of rescuing the dead was begun.

CUT DOWN APPROPRIATIONS.

Lansing, Mich., April 5.—In the house yesterday in committee of the whole the action of the ways and means committee in cutting the appropriation for the state mining school from $115,000 to $105,000 and that of the state fish commission from $75,000 to $60,000 was indorsed. The house also passed the age of consent bill, with the age at 16 years, as fixed by the senate.

The senate agreed to the bill providing a general charter for the fifty-three cities of the fourth class. At the solicitation of citizens of Charlevoix county the bill disorganizing Manitou county and attaching the territory to Charlevoix and Leelanaw counties, which passed both houses Wednesday, was recalled from the governor and will be held until the petitioners can be heard.

FIGHTING IN INDIA.

British Troops Have a Desperate Engagement.

Calcutta, April 5.—A dispatch received here from the Malakand pass, via Simla, says that the operations of the British troops against Umra Khan of Jandoe, the invader of Chitral, in the pass itself has been commenced by the guides who were sent to clear the hills on the left. The Maxim rapid-fire guns were placed in front whenever they got within range of the enemy, estimated to number 12,000. The latter at first made but a feeble resistance but when the head of the pass was reached the action became general. The British stormed the defenses of the enemy and advanced with spirit in spite of the fact that the roadway over the pass was cut in many places and that stone breastworks were constructed at various points, which had to be carried at the point of the bayonet.

Fifty of the British force were wounded, including three officers severely and four slightly injured. Only three soldiers of the British force were killed. The enemy lost 500 killed or wounded. The first brigade is expected to reach the Swat river to-night.

VENEZUELA IS READY TO FIGHT

All England Has to Do Is to Knock Off "That Chip."

Washington, April 5.—It is said by persons in a position to speak with authority that as soon as Venezuela is convinced Great Britain has finally decided to arbitrate or settle the boundary dispute, as suggested by the United States, through Ambassador Bayard, the southern republic will regretfully but resolutely turn to what it regards as its only resource, a resort to force. Venezuela fully recognizes the great military strength of Great Britain, but it is declared its people are ready to see their homes and their cities desolated and laid in ashes rather than submit to what they regard as national dishonor. It is said that the contention with Great Britain is not so much one of territory as of the sentiment and honor involved. So firmly impressed have the people become with this that the opinion is expressed that they would rather see their country go out of existence than pass into the practical control of a foreign power.

Little doubt is felt under these circumstances that Venezuela will forcibly assert its rights to the disputed Orinoco territory as soon as Great Britain's rejection of a settlement is definitely communicated. This territory extends 150 miles along the coast, running back thirty-five miles to what is known as the Schomburg line. Through the middle of this strip runs the Orinoco river, commanding the commerce of it to the interior of South America. Great Britain is already well entrenched there with a naval station at the mouth of the river.

The interest of the United States in the controversy has progressed steadily in recent days. It began with the friendly suggestion through Mr. Bayard, and a request from congress that Great Britain submit the matter to arbitration. The United States squadron, under Admiral Meade, was accorded a reception at Venezuelan ports recently, and steps were taken to commemorate the Monroe doctrine by erecting a statue to President Monroe at the capital of Venezuela. Within recent days Venezuela has granted large concessions of the Orinoco country to citizens of the United States. A strong hope seems to be entertained on the part of Venezuela that the United States will not stand idly by if a resort to force is made.

It is understood that the position of Great Britain in declining the suggestion of the United States for the settlement of the trouble with Venezuela is substantially as follows:

First—Great Britain takes the position that the question of arbitration was once before proposed by Venezuela. At that time the foreign office gave the subject careful consideration and then submitted a reply embodying a proposition to arbitrate certain definite subjects of controversy. To this proposition Venezuela has never made a reply either accepting or rejecting the proposed basis of arbitration. Under these circumstances it is not desirable to proceed to a second arbitration when the first remains unanswered.

Second—In any event there are certain portions of territory to which Venezuela lays claim, which under no circumstances will be made the subject of arbitration, as they are recognized portions of the British domain, and therefore are not subjects on which the judgment of arbitrators could be invoked.

Third—The subject matter is one between Great Britain and Venezuela, so that the good offices of the United States are not regarded as essential to a settlement, as it is not understood the United States has assumed a protectorate over Venezuela, or has other interest than that of a friendly power.

BIG CHINESE ARMY.

Eighty Thousand Men on Formosa, 50,000 Well Armed.

London, April 5.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Hong Kong saying the Chinese army in the northern part of the island of Formosa numbers 80,000 men, of which 50,000 are splendid soldiers, who are well armed. The remainder are raw levies and include a great number of beggars. Fighting is said to be imminent, but the foreigners are believed to be safe. Vigorous measures are being taken at Swatow and Canton in order to resist the Japanese. Booms have been constructed across the Canton river and levies of men are being enlisted for military purposes. A dispatch from Shimonoseki says the military activity of the Japanese is unabated. Five transports having infantry and cavalry on board were hurried away the day previous to the filing of the dispatch and before the armistice was officially declared.

IN A WAVE OF FLAME MRS. CULVER STOOD SHOPIERE WOMAN SEVERELY BURNED BY OIL.

Filled the Tank of the Gasoline Stove Too Full But a Cool Headed Hired Man Used a Wet Horse Blanket in Time to Save Her and the House—County News.

SHOMERE, April 5—Mrs. Frank Culver and her daughter had a narrow escape from death by fire Wednesday and it is a wonder that the house was not destroyed. Prompt work by a cool headed hired man was all that saved them. Mrs. Culver was doing the family washing about ten o'clock in the morning and was using a gasoline stove. As the oil was beginning to run low, she turned the burner out, and detaching the tank filled it with oil. She did not notice, however, that the can was so full that the oil was dripping from the sides and started to place it in position on the stove. The burner was still hot and a drop of oil from the tank fell on it. In an instant the stove and can were wrapped in a sheet of flame. Two men who were working in a field across the creek from the Culver home saw the blaze and were about to unhitch the team and ford the creek when the hired man who was at work in the barn ran out with a wet horse blanket in his hand and rushed into the house. By hard work he succeeded in quenching the flames, but Mrs. Culver was quite severely burned. It was a narrow escape and it is a wonder the can of oil did not explode and make matters worse. William R. Earl died very suddenly on Wednesday, after but a few days' illness. He was not considered to be very ill at any time during the past week and heart trouble was the cause of his demise. Mr. Earl was an old settler and had resided in his present home for many years. The funeral was held at the home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mrs. Hysel is very sick and is not expected to live. Mrs. Chadey is alive yet but gradually wearing out and is expected to drop off at any time. John Hollister is talking of buying a house of Fred. Humphrey and moving it onto the foundation of his house that burned on Monday last.

REV. WILCOX TO LEAVE ST. PAUL

The Former Janesville Minister Will Go To Lafayette, Ind.

Rev. C. B. Wilcox, the former pastor of the Court Street M. E. church, but who has been pastor of the First M. E. church at St. Paul, for the past five years, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday, preparatory to leaving for Lafayette, Ind., where he has accepted a pastorate. In his farewell sermon he spoke to young people especially, warning them against empty frivolities and iniquitous indulgences. His text was "Fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man." The purpose of Ecclesiastes, he said, was to show that human life viewed from any earthly standpoint is not worth living. The author knew whereof he spoke. He had tried all gratification the world could afford and found it empty and stale. His book before us is pessimistic and gloomy, but an honest, thoughtful man is not afraid to face the terrible truths he tells. "Man is too big for this world," continued Mr. Wilcox. "He is one-half a hinge. His other complement is another life and future. Wings are growing on him. His instincts are migratory. He strains ever for something yet beyond his reach. He knows this life is transient—a brief confinement—and yet how he clings to its seductions. He has the groveling desires of a beast and the sublime aspirations of an angel. How poor, how rich, how abject, how august, how complicated, how wonderful is man! The secret of his misery is sin; the cure for his disease is Christ's blood. He who fears God and keeps his commandments lives above the world while in it; insures himself peace and joy and eternal blessing. Otherwise though you have all the wealth, wisdom and power of Solomon, you will have to say at the end, as he said: 'Behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit.'"

NEWS OF WISCONSIN TOWNS.

EDDIE, the 13-year old son of Herman Meister, met with an accident at Green Bay which will probably result in the loss of his right eye. He was playing with a cross-bow gun together with his little brother. Unknown to either of the lads there was a nail in the bottom of the gun. While Eddie was holding the gun his brother pulled the trigger, discharging the weapon, and shooting the nail into his eye with such force as to badly lacerate that organ.

THE N. Ludington company's mill at Marinette is the first to start the season's cutting on the Menominee.

The day before Christmas last Charles Zink of La Crosse, near La Crosse, left home to go to his work. He lived in three rooms at a disused hotel, the balance being vacant. That was the last seen of him until a few days ago, when his body was found hanging to the door knob in a small upper room. His family lived in the house several weeks after his disappearance.

The 1894 Columbia self oiling chain was the enemy of every maker of bicycles. Compare it with the 1895 Columbia chain; looks heavy, and yet no other bicycle this year has a chain that equals even an 1893 Columbia chain; noiseless, frictionless, runs like a ribbon. MEAT TAKES A JUMP AND MAY GO HIGHER

LOCAL BUTCHERS HAVE TO RAISE THE PRICES.

There Is a Scarcity of Fine Beef Cattle and the Chicago Packing Houses Advance the Rates All Along the Line In Consequence—Shortage Is 50 Per Cent.

Beef steak has "riz," and the prices of all kinds of meats will be higher this summer than they have been for ten years past. Even the high prices which were made by some dealers during the World's fair period will be exceeded by the figures asked for roasts, steaks and chops from now on. It is not probable that much relief will come before next fall. Prices have already advanced, and an additional advance is almost certain. The cause of this is the short supply of cattle, followed by the necessary increase in value, which forced dealers to raise prices to consumers. While the prime cause of the advance is the scarcity of choice beef cattle, all kinds of meats have gone up, partly through the sentiments of the speculative market and partly on account of the increased demand. All kinds of beef, from porterhouse to hash meat, are being sold now for from two to five cents a pound higher than a month ago, and pork products of all kinds, from pig's feet to head cheese, are worth considerable more than they could be bought for the first of the month. There is no likelihood that a reaction will come, because the conditions which produce the enhanced values will not change for several months.

Failure of Corn-Fed Cattle.

Dealers in cattle and packers of beef and pork products have for some time foreseen the present condition of affairs. The great proportion of the cattle brought to Chicago and brought here by the packers are furnished by the great corn producing states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Minnesota and Kansas. The animals are called in the trade "corn fed cattle." They are of heavy weight and are in prime condition as to flesh and furnish the very best quality of meat. They are fed and fattened on corn and their flesh is tender and juicy, being superior in these respects to the ranch raised cattle of Texas and the northwest. The supply of this quality of cattle has, within the last few months, fallen away to almost nothing. The corn crop of last year was to a certain extent a failure, and the result was that the number of cattle fed on this cereal during the last winter was greatly diminished. During the six months from January to July, 1894, more than 800,000 cattle were received in Chicago. Reports from the cattle raising district indicate that not one-half that number will be shipped to this market during the same period of this year. The great packing houses of the stockyards are slaughtering less than one half their usual number of cattle and the most of those they can obtain are of inferior quality. The consequence is a great scarcity of choice meat, an increase in price, which has reacted on the inferior grades, and also on pork products, raising the market value of both. It is estimated that the shortage in the cattle supply of the whole western country will be almost fifty per cent.

QUEER STORIES IN AN OLD PAPER

"Gem of The Prairie" Printed in 1848 Tells Odd Tales.

The removal of the old framed dwelling south of the Skelly block on South Jackson street, to make room for the new brick business block, brought to light an old relic in the shape of a copy of the "Gem of the Prairie" a paper published in Chicago, and bearing date of June 3, 1848. The old paper was found pressed in behind some of the sittings and is fairly well preserved. There are many curious items in this old relic. One reads:

"Two Brazilian slave schooners, one with four hundred slaves on board and the other with only the crew, but fitted up as a slaver, arrived on Sierra Leone on the 15th of April, prizes to British men-of-war."

"The Suspension Bridge at Niagara Falls, though but one cable yet spans the chasm, already yields quite an income, so numerous are the persons who desire to cross."

In referring to the Badger state it says:

"Wisconsin—the territory has now become a state—the thirtieth star in the national galaxy. The bill for its admission, which had previously passed the house, passed the senate on the 19th. She will make one of the noblest states in the union."

"The La Fayette Republican, published at Shullsburg, Wis., is the name of a new democratic paper, the first number of which has just reached us."

"Cassius M. Clay has written a letter in reply to some severe strictures of the Louisville Journal in relation to the letter addressed to Henry Clay. It is severe pungent, and in about the same style as the latter. Cassius is too chivalric yet for a wise man."

There are also many other items which have not lost their spice by age. The paper is now in the possession of W. J. Skelly, of King & Skelly.

LETTERS FROM GOD'S SERVANTS

Missionaries Are Doing Grand Good Work in Foreign Lands.

Among the many attractive features of the missionary meeting on Wednesday was an interesting letter from Mrs. Mary C. Nind, read by Mrs. R. H. Cook; one from Miss Sarah Rosworth, read by Mrs. Dr. Halsey; and extracts from one from Miss Mary Reed, read by Mrs. M. M. Phelps. Mrs. Nind, so well and favorably known here, is making a tour of China and India, in the interest of mission work. She is at present stopping with her daughter, Mrs. Lacy, in Foo-chong China. She will probably return to America in '96. Miss Rosworth, a Janesville girl, reports that she is happy and doing excellent work in China. The saintly Miss Reed, to whom all turn in sympathy and love, is laboring heroically among the lepers in North India. Inquiries are made weekly concerning these friends, and gladly come words directly from their homes beyond the seas.

MRS. FORD'S MUSIC IS HIGHLY PRAISED

CHICAGO CRITICS GIVE HER
MANY COMPLIMENTS.

Copyrights Have Been Secured In Both This Country and Abroad and a Part of Her Compositions Will be Issued Next Week—Names of Some of Her Pieces.

Mrs. Abbie A. Ford has scored a signal success with her musical compositions and her really excellent work has won her much praise from Chicago's best critics. Mrs. Ford has just returned from that city where she has been for the past six weeks, placing her compositions with the different publishing houses. Her work is said by those competent to judge, to show exceptional ability, and in addition she has the distinction of being able to compose both words and music, a talent that but few composers possess. Her compositions are not confined to any one line, but include vocal, instrumental and orchestra music. Several music publishing houses were anxious to secure the rights of publication of her pieces for royalties, and the compositions will begin to come out the last of next week. Copyrights have been secured in both this country and Europe. Among other pieces Mrs. Ford, has composed a two step that has been pronounced by the best authorities in Boston and Chicago as much finer than Sousa's or any other now on the market. It has been named "The Concordia Club Two Step" and was accepted with thanks by that club in Chicago. Among her more prominent instrumental selections are:

"The Concordia Two Step."
"The Normandy Waltz."
"Cupid's Secret."

Among the more important vocal compositions upon which she has been highly complimented are:

"The Happy Days of Childhood."
"The Sweetest Time of All."
"Open Thy Window Love."
"If I But Knew."
"Swiss Lullaby."

These are only a portion of the pieces that she will place upon the market but they are the ones that will be issued first. In addition to vocal and instrumental work, Mrs. Ford has composed an orchestra piece which will be played by the orchestra of the Lincoln Street Theatre on Saturday night. The selection of her piece by this well known musical organization is certainly a high compliment to her.

Mrs. Ford has also composed the words for songs written by other eminent Chicago composers, that were highly praised. The fact that the publishers were anxious to issue her compositions on their own responsibility and the basis of a royalty is also a high compliment to her talent as they will not extend such terms except in cases where they know that the music possesses the merit to make it a financial success. Many Janesville people will congratulate Mrs. Ford on her achievements.

THE CLOWN AND THE MISSIONARY.

BY VIOLA ROSEBORO.

pression much of his nature which he may lack either freedom, will or desire to express in his life. So, you see, I was not surprised when my interest in Teddy Catty's artistic side was gratified by a chance verdict, but not a worthless one, that he was a good clown. It came from the spectacular amazonian captain on the occasion of my first conversation with her. It happened one afternoon as I was walking the deck that I stumbled, and simultaneously the ship gave a lurch, and I was thrown upon the histrionic amazonian breast. Upon such a provocation to unreasoning resentment her boundless good nature instantly asserted itself, with pleasure in the opportunity, and then in an instant more she realized another opportunity—she would gratify a thirst for knowledge. Having helped me to my feet, she hurried to say:

"I've heard Teddy Catty speak about you. He said you've been on the stage yourself. He's awful taken up seeing that friend of yours paint, ain't he? He's dead proud of that sister of his a-painting. Did you know anything about him before he came on board? Did you ever see him in the ring? He's a good clown, a real good one. They say he'll get with Barnum next likely. There's some fun to him—not all just as if you'd pulled a string. I tell him he ought to go on the stage—comic opera. He can't sing much, but that don't matter for a funny man. I've been in comic opera some, not a principal, of course, but I can get more with the Kralfys and in pantomime over here," with a toss of the head toward the bow of the ship.

After having dreamed away half a lifetime in this little world upon the waters and having all but forgotten previous states of existence—at the end of ten days, that is—we anchored off Queenstown. There, according to expectation, we met a party of pleasant acquaintances of both sexes, and straightway we sank—rose?—were transformed from the lofty epicene patrons of Teddy Catty into something perhaps more like conventional young ladies than some old fashioned people would suppose possible.

It is strange now to think how unimpressively on this changed mood fell the news that Teddy Catty at Queenstown had met dark sorrow. A letter had come telling him his sister was dead. Not that we were indifferent. No. I remember feeling his bereavement with one of those appalling thumps of realization that visit most of us often enough to point the blessing of our usual "wadding of stupidity." But, after all, this heart stopping sensation—as usual, I think—came rather from a sudden vision of the tragic conditions of all life than from direct, simple sympathy with Teddy Catty. Poor Teddy Catty had all at once become a very remote little figure, all but invisible, and there was so much to talk over with our friends. News was to be heard, experiences were to be exchanged and plans to be made.

It was a relief when his roommate, a young man—we knew nothing more about him—came to me and with stammering, misplaced apologies asked if I thought, if I supposed, that the missionary would not mind, or did I think he would mind—"Does Mr. Catty wish to see the missionary?" I asked, with a sense of relief, and I went gladly to summon him.

The missionary was, as usual, occupied with his numerous little ones. His wife had been sick throughout the voyage and had scarcely left her state-room.

He turned his bowed head a little from me as he listened, as if he were steeling himself against a personal misfortune.

"He begins where we leave off," I said to myself as I looked upon his pity moved face.

He came back to me after he had taken the children to his wife and said, "If I can comfort this poor boy through the word and love of my Master—there is no other comfort—I'll not forget it's to you I owe the opportunity"—there was self reproach in the missionary's tone. "I never should have known any thing about him."

It seemed that it took three or four people in this case to make one Good Samaritan. It happened, as it is always happening in this fantastic life, that though I wished to ask the missionary about his interview with Teddy Catty, and had, of course, rational human motives for such an interest in the lad, one puerile triviality after another preoccupied me, so that I had just a word with him before the ship's company parted at Liverpool.

We were in the custom house. The missionary's wife, thin, pale, shabby, quietly executive and a lady, kept order among her children in a corner of the great, bare, overlighted, ugly place, and beside her sat Teddy Catty, with his hat pulled over his eyes.

I felt that I could not speak to him there. To do so would, it seemed, emphasize the cruel, bold publicity of the place. So I went to where the missionary stood over his bags and boxes, a queer lot, and asked him, if the worthlessness of the words did not choke him, to tell the boy goodbye for us and to say that we felt for him. I stopped short, shamed with the thought of how little we felt, realizing for once not only the powerlessness of human sympathy, but its painfully absurd deficiency in quantity, the unnecessary thickness of our bawling of stupidity. Then I reflected as I stood there that this whole little episode of our acquaintance with the missionary and the clown, so slight, yet so dyed in the primary colors of life, its grotesqueness and comedy and inconsequence, its mystery and tragedy, was ending, or rather, as is the way of life, fading, passing, like a cloud, into something else, and that soon the quaint pair would exist for me no more, and I rebelled against the mutability of existence. I said to the missionary: "I shall be in London in a week or two. I don't suppose I'll ever be the least good to you or to Teddy Catty, and there is no reason in keeping up such an acquaintance as ours, but for no smaller reason than that we are all human beings"—The missionary's eyes responded so adequately with humor and a good deal beside that for a moment it did not occur to me to finish my sentence, and then I concluded: "Let me come to see you or your wife a moment to hear how things are. You'll probably know something of Teddy Catty for as much as a fortnight longer."

Yes, he thought his friendship with the clown might survive all devouring time so long, and he said he would be glad to see me again. Yet I had been in London a week and had not looked up my fellow passengers, when one day as Amy and I were going through the amazingly crowded rooms of the Royal Academy whom should we see but the little clown. He was sitting on one of the divans, dressed in the conventional mourning of a law loving Englishman, a frock coat and cravat banded silk hat dignifying Teddy Catty's little figure. We saw him furtively wipe his eyes as he gazed at the gilt and canvas covered wall before him, and we knew Emmy's picture was there. We soon found it. It was a little one, hung rather high, and like several thousand others in that home of English art it was of a baby, and again like the majority of them, it was a poor picture—dull, conventional. Whatever had been in poor Emmy's heart when she painted it was concealed under a false, frigid method faithfully carried out.

Teddy's face worked convulsively for a moment when he saw us. Then he pointed out the picture and gave us his place to sit in while we gazed. There was plainly no need of talking about it. He did not think of comment as becoming the occasion. "It belonged to one of the dressers at the theater," he said softly after a time. "She had a lot of children, and her husband died, and—Emmy—Emmy helped her, and she was tremendously fond of that baby. She used to keep it at the house days and days to get chances to paint it." Teddy's voice failed him again.

After awhile in the moving of the throng he got a seat beside us, and I noted, as if it were something surprising, that in taking it he arranged his coat-tails with the same odd funniness of movement as of old. It did seem quite strange for a moment that his grief had not lifted him into ideal grace. He looked from one to the other of us and said: "I was going to try some way to see you ladies, but the missionary said you were going to come to see him. I wanted to tell you that I'm going back with him to China, and I'd never have known him if it hadn't been for you."

"Going with him?" "Yes, Miss Milman. I'm going to see if I can help him—help him be a missionary, you know." Teddy's unfamiliarity with the phrases of the "work" pleased my ear. "I've got a little money," he went on, "and I feel as if I'd like to do something—something religious—some time, and it seems as if this was my chance. I fancy Emmy would like it. But I never could turn in with church or chapel people here at home. I know I couldn't. They think a circus man ought to repent a lot, you know, and that I ought to throw over the show business for good, and I don't see how I can, and I don't know that I want to. Long as Emmy didn't cut it altogether I don't know as I want to."

"But—what—how are you going to manage out in China?"

"Why, you know, the missionary's different from most religious folks. He just takes things naturally, and I've some money by me, and Emmy left me a little"—He stopped a moment and stared fixedly into space, then shifting his position a little went on in a different tone: "I can go out there, and then he says he can give me things to do for him as a lay worker—that's what he calls it—and that I can be some use to him, and that it'll be easier for me to be in good standing there than here. I don't care how it is, but I'd like to stay with him awhile and do something some way for religion, you know—the real thing. Yes," in answer to a question, "I suppose I'll come back and go in the circus after my money's all gone. They'd never want to support me as if I was a real missionary. I wouldn't be worth it, but they'll let me be a Christian there."

We shook hands with Teddy Catty at the door of Burlington House, and I saw him no more, but when I called on the missionary he confirmed the story of these queer plans. "Yes," he said, "Teddy seems so little capable of the ordinary ways of entering into and feeling about the religious life that I don't know what channel of usefulness would be open to him here. He wants to come with me, and it seems to me it is a good step. Things are simpler out there. About his coming back—I don't think he'll come back. I think in time he can be taken fully into the work. If he does return, why, he'll have a fuller religious experience than he has now to fall back on."

And so, thanks somewhat to two modern young women professing grave philosophical doubts of the wisdom of foreign missions, this curious transaction came actually to pass, and the only circus clown I ever knew, without renouncing what I shall call his art, sailed away to China as a Christian missionary.

No philosophical doubts could stop us from bidding him goodspeed, nor have they quenched since that day a high degree of interest in Chinese missions.

Teddy Catty has not yet returned. We feel it would be piquant to see him again fill his place in the ring, but with other than artistic sentiments will make us contented if the missionary's predictions come true, and the circus knows him no more.

FACTS

Worthy of Mention.

Do you know that the Waverley is built and sold on the smallest margin of any high grade bicycle in the world today? It's a FACT!

Do you know that the Waverley costs the retailer more money at wholesale than 90 per cent of the wheels that are sold at a list price of $100?

It's a FACT.

Do you know that in foreign countries where there is an import duty of 30 per cent, these same $100 wheels are sold at $100.00?

It's a FACT.

Who pays the duty? We don't know, but we think the riders of these glorious United States do.

Riders, give these Facts your consideration. It is a Fact that the Waverley costs the retailer more money than most wheels for which you are charged $100. It is a fact also that the discount on the $100 wheel is great enough to enable foreign dealers to a 30 per cent, duty, freight and cartage and still make a profit at the same price you are asked to pay in this country.

Which do you prefer? To pay $100 for your wheel and incidentally assist in paying the duty for your foreign brother, or to pay $85 for a Waverley, that represents "100 cents on the dollar" of Honest Value.

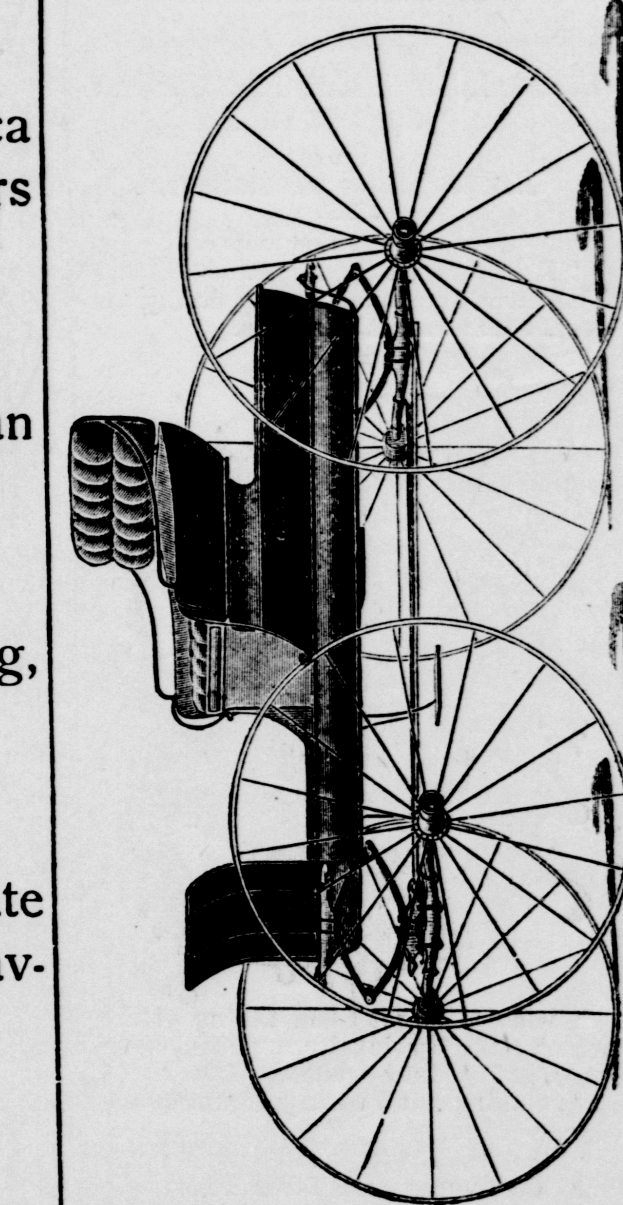

The Waverley Of Course!!

When you spend $85 for a Waverley, you have the satisfaction of knowing that you not only have the best wheel that money will buy, but that you have saved enough cash to pay your expenses on a two week's country tour. Our catalogue is free by mail.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

53—This is the date agreed upon by most church historians as that on which Jesus Christ rose from the dead.
 1063—Catherine of Russia was born; died 1727; empress 1725.
 1794—Danton, Camille Desmoulins and other Jacobins guillotined. Danton was condemned by the terrible tribunal he himself had instituted to crush his enemies. He was wont to declare, "All will go well with me so long as men say 'Robespierre and Danton,' but woe to me if ever they shall cry 'Danton and Robespierre.'" He refused to save himself by flight. When the Jacobin judge asked him to give his name, residence, etc., he said: "My name is Danton, my residence will soon be in annihilation, but my memory will live in the Pantheon of history."
 1887—Henri Dupin, called the "Father of French Dramatists," and author of 200 plays, died; born 1791.
 1892—Lord Arthur Edward Russell of London died.

THE FARMER AND THE TARIFF

No class of producers in this country need the benefit of protection as much as farmers.

After a year and a half of practical free trade, and a chance to experiment with the markets of the world, it must be apparent to every intelligent farmer, that the whole thing is a snare and a delusion.

There is no market in the world so good for American farmers and producers, as the American market. In ordinarily good times such as 1892, our home consumption amounts to $11,000,000,000.

Letting down the bars of protection as was done in 1893, deprives the buyers and opens up our ports of entry to all sorts of foreign competition. This policy says in so many words, "This is a goodly heritage, come over and possess it." The heavily increased importation during the past six months indicate very plainly, that our friends from abroad know a good thing when they see it, and are not slow to take advantage of the situation.

Every dollar of imported goods from abroad that could be produced in this country, is a dollar out of the pocket of American labor. Who is benefited by this policy on this side of the water? No one. Foreign silk at seventy-five cents a yard, shutting out American silk at a dollar, is a detriment to the country. The lady who wears the foreign silk does so at the expense of American labor. What is true concerning silk is equally true concerning scores of other articles. While these conditions prevail, idleness and suffering are the natural result. It matters not how cheap an article is, it is beyond the reach of the honest man or woman who toil for a living, when they are idle.

All this affects the farmer very materially. His cereals are in light demand at home because people have no money to buy with. Protection in its broadest and best sense is simply a safeguard thrown around American labor. The raw material of which democracy has said so much, is simply a snare and humbug. President Cleveland seemed infatuated with this idea, and if he possessed the power, the last wall of protection would be removed, and more than half the factories in the country would be compelled to shut down unless American labor would adopt the foreign scale of wages. When this is done our home labor will eat meat once a week, and butter only on Sunday, instead of every day. This means depression among the farmers of this country because the home market is paralyzed.

There is another side of this question that is too often overlooked, and that is the question of foreign competition in cereals. During the last four months of 1894, we imported 700,000 bushels of beans, nearly one and one-half million bushels of barley, about four million pounds of cheese and one and a quarter million dozen eggs, to say nothing of the large amount of 75,000,000 pounds of wool, 60,000,000 pounds of rice, 180,000,000 pounds of salt, besides a large list of other articles in which American farmers are interested. Every intelligent farmer knows that this country is capable of producing the food and grain supply of the world. He ought to go a step further and say: Any party that will tolerate the shipping of farm products to this country from abroad, should be annihilated beyond recovery. The farmers of this country should be republicans, as a matter of policy if nothing else, following the example of the Louisiana sugar planter.

Democracy is the retical; it has devoted two years to experiments at the country's expense. The motto of the party is "rule and ruin." The country has had a foretaste of both. A presidential election tomorrow, would carry almost every state in the Union for republicanism and protection.

Colorado has swung into line again, and will be solid for the republican party in 1896. The silverites and populists have had their day in that state.

Chicago has reason to rejoice over the splendid victory won last Tuesday. The Parkhurst reform movement entered largely into the campaign.

The second tidal wave that swept over the country April 2, indicates that republican sentiment is not on the wane.

A republican daily in New Orleans, backed by $150,000 is the latest novelty in the south.

AGAINST INCOME TAX.

Supreme Court Now Said to Stand Five to Three That Way.

Washington, April 5.—There was a story current yesterday to the effect that one of the Justices of the Supreme court of the United States called on the President within a day or so and informed him that five of the Justices had determined that the income tax is unconstitutional. The other three hold it to be constitutional and the case is hanging fire for this reason. Two of the five Justices who are against the tax are willing to declare certain parts of the law constitutional if evidence is given them that the treasury is in need of the funds from the tax.

Opening On The Bridge.

From high noon yesterday and until late in the night, M. A. Morrissey & Co's millinery store was crowded with an eager mass of people who took advantage of the fine weather to come out and see what is in store for the coming season and they saw what made them happy. From floor to ceiling down the entire length of the great room and back again and then back once more were piled, pile upon pile, the goods so dear to the feminine heart. The arrangement of the display both in the front windows and inside is very attractive and many high compliments were passed upon the fine headgear and display last evening. The opening will continue this evening, the Mandolin club will play and the Misses Morrissey, with their assistants, will endeavor to please all.

COMPLICATED CASE BEFORE THE COURT

INTERESTING SUIT IN JUDGE
PHELPS' TRIBUNAL.

Edward Moore Gave a First and Second Mortgage on the Same Property and the Holders Thereof Go to Law to See Which Gets It—City News.

Judge Phelps listened to testimony and arguments of attorneys in an interesting replevin suit today. It was the case of Ryan against Hanlon. It appears that Edward Moore, of Plymouth, gave Ryan a chattel mortgage on a lot of collaterals, including some live stock, to satisfy a debt or security for a note. He also gave Hanlon a chattel mortgage on the same property, it is claimed, to secure claims or notes. It appears that Ryan or his agent took possession of the chattels and advertised the same for sale, including live stock. Pending these proceedings Hanlon appeared with his second mortgage, took the live stock and drove them over into the town of La Prairie. Suit is brought to replevy the mortgaged stock by Ryan, the owner of the first mortgage. Moore is not a party to the case. J. L. Mahoney appeared for the plaintiff and E. M. Hyzer for the defendant.

CASH GOT INTO AN ARGUMENT

Burr Robbins' Former Employee Locked in Jail Last Night.

Professor Charles Cash, who traveled with Burr Robbins' circus for a number of years, came back to Janesville last night and soon found himself in jail. Cash, who is a well known circus man, got into a row in front of J. L. Ford's store soon after he arrived in town, and the police locked him up. He claims Detroit as his home.

Train Robbery.

Last Wednesday night masked robbers boarded the limited express, just out of town on our railroad, and compelled the express messenger to give up all money and valuable packages, including a large quantity of De Witt's Little Early Risers. Armed men are now in hot pursuit of the robbers, with instructions to capture them dead or alive, but to recover the Early Risers, as a host of suffering people are depending on these little pills for relief from dyspepsia, constipation, sick headache, biliousness and the train of evils that follow in their express company. A Good Indication.

No practitioner in any of the professions, can year after year, do business in any locality without inspiring confidence by reason of his success or else proving that his pretensions to skill are groundless, and the best evidence that Dr. Brewer is a skillful physician, is to be found in the fact that for many years he has visited various localities in this state—and each year his reputation for success has been growing brighter. There must be merit to command such confidence. Dr. Brewer will be at the Park Hotel in this city on Monday, April 8.

The directors of the city hospital are requested to meet in the Business Men's room at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Why Are the Americans in Prison?

Washington, April 5.—Have the Cuban authorities ignored the demand of the state department for the immediate release of the two American sailors confined in the fifty prison of Santiago de Cuba? An official said yesterday the administration would resort to the most extreme measures to secure the liberation of these men, or at least their freedom from military imprisonment and trial by the civil authorities. Notwithstanding that martial law has been declared throughout the islands Secretary Gresham still rigidly adheres to the stand he took some time ago against the trial by military authority of American prisoners not actually participants in the revolution, with arms in their possession, at the time of their arrest.

J. MATTHEWS' HOME MADE MERRY
Surprise In Honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Ray Last Evening.

A very pleasant social event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews, 15 Lynden avenue last evening, the affair being a surprise in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Ray. Games and dancing made the hours pass quickly and a supper that was complete in all details was served by the ladies. Mr. and Mrs. Ray favored the guests with some of their choicest vocal music and the singing was much enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Ray have had an engagement during the past two years with the Hyde Comedy Company and will leave the first of the week for San Francisco, where they will play a six weeks' engagement with the Orphan Theatrical Co. Last evening's party was much enjoyed as all the fifty favored ones who were present will say. Music for the dancing was furnished by Messrs. Hildebrandt and Barnes.

CHANGE TOWN COMPANY POLICIES

Commissioner of Insurance Wants All Papers to Be Uniform.

Insurance Commissioner Fricke has notified the town insurance companies of which there are about 170 doing business in the state, that they must use the standard form of insurance policy required by the state law. All but a few of them use a policy of their own, and they argue that, being organized under a special law, they do not come under the provisions of the general law. The insurance commissioner, however, has armed himself with an opinion from Attorney General Mylrea.

Baraboo Republic Tells of His Tragic Demise in That City.

The Baraboo Republic tells of Clinton H. Wilcox's death as follows: "At 1 o'clock Monday afternoon the guests and attendants at Hotel Warren were startled at the announcement of the sudden death of C. H. Wilcox, one of the guests. Mr. Wilcox represented the M. D. Wells Wholesale Boot & Shoe Company, of Chicago, and about that hour was in one of the sample rooms, and while packing his trunk was taken suddenly ill with a sinking spell. F. B. Marsh, one of the porters, was in the room at the time, and at once summoned medical aid. By the time the physician arrived Mr. Wilcox's pulse was very feeble, and he died a few minutes later. Mr. Wilcox resided in Janesville. He was about forty-five years of age."

Misrepresentation.

Every concern that had an exhibit at the World's Fair went away claiming that they were awarded first premiums. This is not only true of World's Fair exhibitors, but it's true of people who had exhibits of buggies at our local fair, and we wish to say that some such claims are absolutely false, as the records will show that in the past two years the Wisconsin Carriage Top Co. have made exhibits, they have taken first premiums for the best top buggy exhibited and also extension top surreys. We wore the blue ribbon away both seasons, and will as long as we make a display, as no buggy in these parts is as good as we make and we stand ready to prove it, and leave it to any number of judges.

BABES GIVEN UP BY TWO MOTHERS

THEY COULD NOT SUPPORT THE CHILDREN.

Therefore They Were Turned Over to Rev. William Woodmasee, the Agent of the Milwaukee Children's Home Society, Who Came to Janesville For Them Today.

Owing to the fact that their mothers, upon whom they were entirely dependent, could not support or educate them, two Janesville children took up their residence with the Children's Home Society today. They were Ida Vetter aged three months and Frank Cassidy aged seven years. The children were taken to the Cream City by Rev. William Woodmasee who came to Janesville in the interest of that institution. The society he represents is developing practical christianity, by placing in good homes the little waifs and destitute children that would otherwise be homeless and friendless. During the year 1894 one hundred and eighty-four children of this class have been placed in good homes by this society, five of whom were from Janesville. The average expense of the work is $40 for each child, this money being provided by philanthropic people throughout the state. Mr. Woodmasee will spend a Sunday in Janesville soon in the interest of the work. He says that the home has no agents except those who are fully authorized to work, and that every agent is provided with credentials that cannot be questioned. The Gazette speaks for the work the success it merits.

BABY CONTEST OPEN BALLOTS IN DEMAND

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN THE CONTEST.

Five Shares of Stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association Will be Given the Winner June 1—Value at Maturity Is $500 and It Is Non Assessable.

The polls for The Gazette contest for the babies is now open and the ballot will be found at the close of this article and will run until June 1, when the contest will close. Much interest is centered in The Gazette's offer to present the baby who gets the highest number of votes with $500 worth of stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association. It is a prize worth getting, for naturally it will be worth just half a thousand dollars. That will be a nice nest egg if kept at interest after maturity until the child becomes old enough to want to use it. It will buy an education. It will buy a building lot. It will buy a piano and the lessons necessary to play upon it.

It is more than many people are able to save in a life time. Of course all the mothers and fathers want it for their babe. How to get it is told below:

The polls opened this morning and will remain open until June 1. The baby that receives the most ballots in that time will receive a certificate calling for these five shares of stock. There are no dues to be paid, no assessments to be met, no installments to provide for. The stock stands for $500 in cash and on its maturity, which will be in nine and one-third years, the money will be ready. The prize is a handsome one—it is well worth winning and the conditions of the ballot are as follows:

From March 1 until June 1, a coupon will be printed in each issue of The Gazette.

Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

The baby who receives the largest number of votes will receive five shares of stock in the Rock County Building & Savings Association, cash value, $500 at maturity.

The contest will close June 1 at 9 p. m., and the stock will be delivered as soon as the count of votes is completed.

Any non-subscriber who will subscribe for The Gazette and pay in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

No votes can be transferred from one candidate to another after being registered in this office.

Candidates must not be more than three years of age March 1, 1895, and must live in Janesville.

THE BALLOT.

The Publishers of "The Janesville Gazette" will give 5 Shares of stock in the Rock County Building, Loan & Savings Association to the Baby who receives the largest number of ballots.

The Stronghold of Health

Is soon carried by the assaults of malaria, but at Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is employed as a bulwark against the disease, absolute safety is attained. The most virulent forms of disease bred by miasma, tainted air and water, soon yield to the creative and combative influence of this efficient safeguard, which fortifies the system as no other medicine up to date has ever done. It counteracts a tendency to rheumatism, neuralgia and kidney complaints, overcomes indigestion, nervousness, constipation and liver troubles, improves the appetite and promotes digestion. Taking for all in all, it is probably the most useful family remedy in existence, and is popular as well as effective. Use it systematically, not at irregular intervals.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth, Secure and use that old and well tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

SLEEP AND BEAUTY.

"Nature's Sweet Restorer" Said to Produce Decay.

It is a fortunate thing for the race that human beings do not in general take advice patiently nor follow it out with minute observance when they do take it, for if men and women listened to all the counsel and warning that are continually being forced upon them the world would soon be uninhabited. Since fatal germs have been found to linger in all the accessories and necessities of life, death is the threatened penalty of eating, drinking, sleeping, wearing clothes, speaking, even breathing.

But the cry of "Wolf!" has been heard so often that it is losing its terror, and there is a growing feeling that because old diseases have been given half a dozen new names apiece is no reason why there should be no more cures and also.

Women, being considered more timid and credulous than man, have been especially pursued by bogey cries, and one of the newest is that she must sleep as little as she conveniently can if she does not desire to grow old before her time, and that what sleep she perversely insists on indulging in must be taken on a bed as hard and narrow as a coffin. She must allow herself no departure from self-consciousness, but must pose as carefully after retiring as she does in a ballroom.

It would be interesting to know how many women have had nervous prostration as a consequence of their frantic efforts after up to date hygiene and physical culture. If persistence in any of the little personal improvement courses we all begin so eagerly were not well nigh an impossibility to the normally constituted mind, no doubt the number of victims would appall us. However, there is some quality in human nature which makes it abandon dumbbell exercise, hard beds and health food within the first week, nine times out of ten, and to this quality we probably owe the fact that mankind is not extinct.

The young girl's gown illustrated is of printed foulard. The skirt has two velvet ruffles. The bodice has a plain back and a front gathered at the waist, back and front being trimmed with a fancifully cut velvet plastron. The deep cuffs of the silk sleeves are also of velvet.

MILLINERY NOVELTIES.

Chene Ribbons in Flower Effects—Coarse Straws—Tiny Bonnets.

The fashionable flowers range from the large orchid or tulip, in velvet, to the tiny forget-me-not. They are arranged in erect or alight effects, as well as in close bunches that come low down and give to the hat a compact effect. The colors best liked are the dahlia shades, which are a reddish purple, the fuchsia colors, a lavender red and a very deep pink called reine, turquoise, a yellowish green called lantana, all the yellow shades and the light tones of blues. The dark blues, either in flowers or in velvet or ribbon, are brighter than before, and show four shades, ranging from royal to navy. Speaking of ribbons, it would seem as if all kinds were to be in vogue for bows upon hats, as satin, grosgrain, taffeta and fancy ribbons.

The fashionable stores are displaying an ample line of chene ribbons in flower effects. This style was revived, in ribbons and silks, a year or so ago, but did not meet with the general acceptance to which it was entitled by reason of its dainty appropriateness to summer and evening gowns. Perhaps it will meet with better luck this season.

Violets show no decrease in fashionable favor. They are seen in abundance, not only in all shades of their natural color, but in blue tones, in which they are less pleasing. There is also a large variety of green flowers and foliage shown, ranging from the pale yellow of a tint of mignonette to the dark shades of ivy with bluish berries.

Bonnets and toques for dress occasions amount to almost nothing now, and are merely an apology for a head covering and an excuse for the display of a careful coiffure. Butterfly wings of spangled gauze, having metallic glints in gold or colors, are the principal feature of these trifling adornments, the rest consisting of a tiny Dutch bonnet frame or fillet of wire, covered with ribbon or flowers.

Coarse straws are preferred this season, and are very picturesque and pleasing. The simple hat illustrated is of bright yellow straw of a fancy weave. A large chou of rose velvet trims the front, while the crown is surrounded by large violets. The right side is adorned with a piquet of roses and violets, while on the left is placed and alight of dull green ivy leaves veined with gold.

The mill is 60x60 feet, four stories and basement constructed of stone, brick and frame, the frame part being iron-clad. Capacity 300 barrels per day. The storage-packing house is 30x120 feet two stories. The elevators each have a capacity of 30,000 and 50,000 bushels. A branch railway track runs between the mill and packing-storage house.
